Interesting News from Europe.—The Lord Chancellor of England Censured by a Vote of Parliament—His Resignation Accepted.

NEW YORK, July 17.—The steamer Hav-ar, from Southampton on the 5th, has arrived.

The House of Commons met on the 3d.

Mr. Hunt moved a vote of censure on the Lord Chancellor in connection with the Bankruptcy Court scandal. The Lord Advocate defended the Chancellor, and said there was nothing to warrant the censure, and that the censure being passed on him, and he moved to amend to the effect that the House agreed to report of the committee.

Mr. Bouvier said he had no confidence in the Lord Chancellor. Mr. Hunt's motion of censure was negatived. Lord Palmerston moved an adjournment of the House until the 4th, which was lost by a vote of 177 to 163.

Mr. Bouvier's amendment, which is similar to Mr. Hunt's with one exception, was carried without a division and found obscurely passed. The result of the debate in the House of Commons is that a grave vote of censure has been passed on the Lord Chancellor, and that the discredit of the Lord Chancellor is a reproach to the nation at large.

The House of Lords met on the 4th.

The Queen accepted the Lord Chancellor's resignation, but he will continue in office until prorogation.

ITALY.

The official organ of Rome confirms the fact that the negotiations with the King of Italy have been broken off, in consequence of the King demanding conditions of the Pope which he could not concede. The negotiations were opened at the Pope's instance, and in consequence of a private letter from the Pope to the King.

Governor Brownlow on the Situation.

NASHVILLE, July 14.—Governor Brownlow has issued a lengthy address to the people of Tennessee, explaining the validity and constitutionality of the present constitution and government of the State, and stating that the constitution was the work of President Johnson, and that he (Johnson) will be enforced on the day of the election by the civil and military authorities, and all elections effected by illegal votes will be annulled, and if necessary, the officers so elected will be removed.

The civil and military authorities will act in harmony. Brownlow alludes to the harangues of aspiring politicians, denouncing the extermination of slavery, as showing the spirit of rebellion still existing, and must be defeated.

ASSOCIATE JUSTICE WYLLIE PRESIDING.

JULY 17.—TENTH DAY.

The Court met this morning at ten o'clock, a large crowd being in attendance, as usual.

The jury on this trial were dismissed until Wednesday morning next.

At twenty minutes after ten o'clock Miss Harris entered the court-room, having a coat upon her hand, leaning on the arm of Mr. Bradley, and accompanied by her lady friends, Mrs. Abbey and the Misses Devlin. She was attired the same as usual, and still sits with her veil over her face.

A large number of ladies were in attendance this morning, some of them having been present every day since the trial commenced.

The jury were brought into court a few minutes before ten o'clock, from their quarters at the National, looking much refreshed after their holiday of yesterday.

Marshal Gooding is kept busy during the forenoon to show the ladies visitors to the seats provided for them inside the bar.

Mr. Bradley said before the discussion of the case was commenced he desired to know if the gentlemen for the prosecution considered the depositions in regard to the ring in evidence. He did not want to commence the discussion of a perfect understanding with the gentlemen.

Mr. Carrington said he objected to the statements of the deceased in regard to a marriage engagement existing.

Mr. Bradley said that matter had all been settle by the court.

Judge Wyllie said the court had admitted those statements on the ground that they formed a part of the history of the case.

Judge Wyllie said the depositions were in evidence before the jury.

Mr. Bradley said they (the defense) had prepared instructions to be submitted to the jury, and Judge Hughes had them but he was not yet in court.

Mr. Carrington said they (the prosecution) had also prepared prayers to be submitted to the court. He believed the practice of the court had been to take the instructions in both sides, and then instruct the jury as to the law and evidence.

At fifteen minutes before eleven o'clock Judge Hughes entered the court-room, when Mr. Bradley proceeded to read the prayers asked by the defense. They are as follows:
